

Your personal perspective on climate conditions

1. At some point our current drought will end and we will return to the long term average conditions represented by the historic hydrologic record
2. Dry and wet cycles will continue, but we are also facing climate change that will result in long term declines in available water in the Colorado Basin

Activities of the agencies you work with

1. We are developing or planning to develop projections for long term water supplies and incorporating climate change impacts in these projections
2. We are, or will be, identifying adaptation mechanisms to address climate change impacts on our organization and/or water availability in our region
3. We are not involved in identifying or addressing climate change
4. My agency/organization has a role in addressing climate change mitigation

The political culture for considering climate issues

1. The political culture in my region is supportive of efforts to adapt to climate change
2. The political culture in my region is supportive of efforts to mitigate climate change
3. The political culture in my region is not supportive of efforts to address climate change.